Born in Hungary, author Gabor Bethlenfalvay spent his early childhood under privileged circumstances that he remembers as his Garden of Eden. It was a paradise until the end of World War II. He tells of the events of joy and of tragedy in his life before and after the war in his Xlibris publication: In Search of an America: An Introvert on the Road. In this tale of the road' the author relives how he and his family fled west, just before the Red Army overran his hometown, to end up in a small village in Bavaria. There, six years of exile were spent absorbing a classical education amid the rubble of post-war Germany, until emigration to the United States became possible. Assembly lines in Chicago and in Omaha were the author's first introduction to the New World, until he found his path to Military Service. He became a paratrooper and an officer but decided to return to school to study physics. In spite of an advanced degree, doubts about his vocation pulled him back into the Army. The war in Vietnam finally impelled him to resign his commission for good and to strike out for California with his young family to study biology, a decision that led to a doctorate and a research career exploring the web of life in the soil. The repeated back-and-forth between academia and the military and between Europe and the USA helps him explore and compare religious, political, sociological and scientific attitudes and patterns of thinking in the Old and New Worlds. He learns to view his new home with critical detachment. A candid look into a colorful life journey during one of history's most tumultuous times, In Search of an America: An Introvert on the Road chronicles how one man finally realized that the long road that led him to the fog-shrouded mountain outside his study window in San Luis Obispo was all part of his search for his personal utopia, 'an america,' that of his childhood dreams. Anne Murphy offers a groundbreaking exploration of material representations of the Sikh past, showing how objects, as well as historical sites, and texts, have played a vital role in the production of the Sikh community as an evolving historical and social formation from the eighteenth century to the present. Drawing together work in religious studies, postcolonial studies, and history, Murphy explores how 'relic' objects such as garments and weaponry have, like sites, played dramatically different roles across political and social contexts-signifiers of authority and even sovereignty in one; collected, revered, and displayed with religious significance in another-and are connected to a broader engagement with the representation of the past that is central to the formation of the Sikh community. By highlighting the connections between relic objects and historical sites, and how the status of sites changed in the colonial period, she also provides crucial insight into the circumstances that brought about the birth of a new territorial imagination of the Sikh past in the early twentieth century, rooted in existing precolonial historical imaginaries centered in place and object. The life of the object today and in the past, she suggests, provides unique insight into the formation of the Sikh community and the crucial role representations play in it. Eurik was found adrift by the san and raised by them. Though he had read much about the outside world, he'd never considered leaving home. Not until his teacher revealed what he had inherited from his parents: a living sword, a sentient blade of rare power . . . and with it, the names of his father and mother. Reluctant to go, yet curious, Eurik sets out to discover who they were, and what happened to them. But is he ready for all the attention his heritage will earn him? Can he survive in a world he has only read about? Multiphoton ionization of atoms in intense laser-light fields is gaining ground as a spectroscopic diagnostic tool. In this volume, Delone and Krainov present their and others' theoretical description of the process occurring in atoms under conditions of multi-photon impacts, in particular, the shift, broadening, and mixing of electronic states which complicate the interpretation of spectra. The topics of individual chapters include tunneling ionization, above-threshold ionization, ionization of multiply charged ions, resonance-enhanced ionization, super-intense radiation fields, and properties of Rydberg states in strong fields. Highlighting the major economic and industrial changes in the lubrication industry since the first edition, Synthetics, Mineral Oils, and Bio-Based Lubricants, Second Edition outlines the state of the art in each major lubricant application area. Chapters cover trends in the major industries, such as the use of lubricant fluids, growth or decline Together with a list of auxiliary and cooperating societies, their officers, and other data. Internationales Marketing Die zunehmende Internationalisierung oder gar Globalisierung der Wirtschaft bringt neue Wertschöpfungsarchitekturen mit sich. Entscheidend ist hierbei die Erschließung und Bearbeitung neuer ausländischer Absatzmärkte: nach dem „Going International“ bringt auch das „Being International“ eine erhöhte Komplexität mit sich, da zunehmende Wechselwirkungen zwischen den Märkten und auch mit den übrigen Wertschöpfungsfunktionen, so Produktion und Beschaffung, zu berücksichtigen sind. Marketing konkret Dieses Buch, das sich sowohl an Studierende als auch an Entscheidungsträger in der Unternehmenspraxis richtet, führt in die theoretischen Grundlagen, die konzeptionellen Ansätze und die modernen Methoden des Internationalen Marketing ein. Aber auch bewährtes Wissen wird einbezogen, um Erklärungs- und Gestaltungsbeiträge zu leisten. Neben der Betonung der neueren empirischen Forschung ergänzen zahlreiche Praxisbeispiele und Fallstudien die Ausführungen. Marketing aktuell Die 3. Auflage ist vollständig überarbeitet und aktualisiert, das Grundkonzept wird beibehalten. Schwerpunkte des Buches sind: - Grundlagen, theoretische Ansätze und Determinanten des Internationalen Marketing - Entscheidungsfelder des Internationalen Marketing - Optionen des Marktengagements - Betätigungsformen auf ausländischen Märkten - Bearbeitung ausländischer Märkte - Implementierung, Koordination und Führung Die Autoren Univ.-Professor Dr. Dr. h.c.
